SPECTRUM AWARDS

RULES AND REGULATIONS

By signing the entry form, entrants agree to abide by the rules of the AGTA Spectrum Awards™ competition and the final decision of the judges. In submitting an entry for consideration, entrants agree to hold the American Gem Trade Association (AGTA), its officers and directors, its staff and employees, its advertising and publicity agencies, and its members harmless from all claims, litigation and other legal proceedings. The entrants understand that AGTA will be responsible only for the replacement value of the material and labor, payable in the event of a loss or theft of any entry while in the possession of AGTA. The entrant understands that AGTA insures the entry against loss, damage or theft, whether occasioned by negligence or not. Entrants also understand that AGTA will take every reasonable precaution to ensure the safety and security of jewelry and gemstones submitted for judging.

The deadline for entry is September 25, 2009. Entries that arrive after the entry deadline will not be accepted unless prior arrangements have been made. International entries (those outside the U.S. and Canada) will not be accepted.

Entries that do not meet these rules of entry will be disqualified. Disqualified entries will be returned to the entrant without being judged in the competition.

If an entry is received that has been damaged during shipping, the entrant will be called immediately and the entry will be shipped back to entrant for repair and resubmission. AGTA is not responsible for entries that are damaged during the shipping process. If this occurs, please contact your shipper for their damage policy.

The Cutting Edge portion of the competition exists to honor creativity and excellence among lapidary artists, hence this portion is open only to gemstone materials of natural origin. Synthetic origin will preclude entry in this portion of the competition.

In the Spectrum Awards portion of the competition, gemstone jewelry entered in the competition must utilize natural colored gemstones or cultured pearls. Entries may use enhanced colored gemstones or cultured pearls, diamonds of any color (enhanced or natural) and synthetic stones. Entrants acknowledge, however, that the competition exists for the purpose of promoting natural colored gemstones and cultured pearls, and that the judges will consider the requisite use of these gemstones in comparison to diamonds and synthetic stones in the selection of winners. Finished jewelry suites will be accepted individually requiring a separate entry fee per piece.

All jewelry designs must be original and must have been executed since the last Spectrum Awards competition in October 2008.

Entrants agree to clearly indicate if any gemstone or gemstone jewelry entered in the competition is synthetic (laboratory created) in origin.

Entrants agree to clearly indicate, to the best of their knowledge, gemstone enhancement information for all gemstones or gemstone jewelry entered in the competition. Gemstones so commonly enhanced that they are considered ubiquitous in the trade (such as the heating of ruby or sapphire) will be assumed to be treated, unless otherwise noted by the entrant. If the entry form indicates an untreated gemstone where this is rare or unusual, the entry must be accompanied by a laboratory report verifying this. Entrants unfamiliar with common gemstone enhancements should request a complimentary copy of the Gemstone Information Manual from the AGTA.

For the purposes of publicity, one person or company (the entrant) will be granted credit, regardless of the number of people involved in a collaborative entry. Additional credits will NOT be provided to the media. Please complete the entry form carefully; no changes to the information on this form will be accepted or allowed after the conclusion of judging.

Entrants in the Cutting Edge portion of the competition, other than the original cutter of a gemstone, agree to supply contact information for the cutter and to notify the cutter of the entry in the competition.

By entering this competition, entrants acknowledge and agree that, although the competition is intended to honor creativity and excellence among lapidary artists, designers and manufacturers, neither the judging of the entries nor the designation of winners constitutes or shall be deemed or construed to be a determination by AGTA, the Spectrum Awards competition or the judges thereof that the design, cut, composition or appearance of any entry was originally developed or created by the entrant thereof.

Because winning entries historically have received substantial publicity, entrants must agree to consign winning entries to AGTA for the purpose of photography, display and promotion.

AGTA will, however, make every attempt to return entries during the 2009 holiday selling season. Winning entries will be on display at the AGTA GemFair™ Tucson 2010.

AGTA reserves the right to photograph all gemstones and jewelry submitted for judging in the competition for promotional use without payment or royalty to the entrant for such use.

Entrants grant AGTA competition judges the right to make corrections or adjustments to an entry form, if either the AGTA Competition Committee or the judges believe the entry would be better suited for judging in another category. Judges also reserve the right to refrain from awarding a winner in categories where the number or nature of entries does not warrant recognition, in their opinion.

At the discretion of the judges, up to three winners in each category or division will be awarded trophies. Additionally, one "Best Use of Pearls," "Best of Show" and one "Best Use of Color" trophy will be awarded. Honorable mentions (if any) will receive a certificate.

For the PGI Platinum Honors, each Spectrum category will be awarded one Platinum Honors award, along with one "Best Use of Platinum and Color." In order for a piece to be eligible in this division, the platinum must meet ISO standards (900 or 950) and must comprise at least 90 percent of the metal used. All entries meeting these qualifications will be judged separately in the PGI Platinum Honors division.

- Judging will be held in October 2009.
- Winners will be notified by telephone after the conclusion of the competition.
- Non-winning entries will be returned in random order to entrants between November 9 and December 4, 2009.
- Please note that AGTA cannot guarantee the return of your original packing materials, custom boxes or bags.

Shipping – AGTA will pay for return shipping via registered/insured U.S. mail for all entries with a wholesale value under $25,000.

Entrants with pieces with a wholesale value over $25,000 will be responsible for return postage fees. Entrants with pieces with a wholesale value over $100,000 will be responsible for arrangement and payment of return shipping fees.

Insurance – All entries will be insured while in the possession of the AGTA up to $250,000 wholesale value. Additional fees for insurance on high value items are $25 for $25,000 - $99,999, $50 for $100,000 - $199,999 and $100 for $200,000 - $249,999. Entrants entering pieces with a wholesale value over $250,000 will be responsible for providing their own insurance coverage. Proof of insurance may be required. AGTA is not responsible for any loss in excess of $250,000 wholesale value.

Entry fees must accompany the item(s) entered in the competition and be drawn on a U.S. bank. Fees are in U.S. dollars and may be paid by check, Visa, MasterCard, Discover or American Express. AGTA strongly recommends that the entrant should retain a copy of entry forms and competition rules.
